—Light snow storm fell in this city last night and this morning to the depth of about one and a half inches, which caused dealers to display their stock of runners.

Dorsey has been in the employ of the Janesville boot company, an engineer, but was recently discharged. On last Thursday the pump attached to the engine refused to work, and a careful examination convinced those in charge that it had been tampered with. The pump was taken apart, and again put up, and yet it refused to work. Dorsey was arrested as the person suspected, and his trial is in progress as we go to press.

—The indications are that the coming winter will entirely use up the Nicholson pavement on West Milwaukee street. The blocks, in many places are entirely worn out, and a solid freeze will undoubtedly throw many of the remaining blocks out of place. Many of the cross walks, especially those on the south side of the street at River, Franklin, and Jackson street, ought to be condemned, and new walks laid. Undoubtedly the matter will be attended to early in the spring, when the property owners decide what they will do with the old pavement.

—Speaking about Thanksgiving dinners, we have only to call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of J. A. Dennison, which appears in this evening's Gazette, to convince all that the cheapest and best way to furnish a Thanksgiving table in first class order, is to call at his establishment for choice and cheap delicacies in the culinary line. Dennison keeps everything good for such occasions, and there is no excuse for a poor dinner when such goods are sold for so little money. Tropical fruits, fresh from the south, canned goods, and all kinds of choice meats in stocks. Call and see.

—Mr. Wm. M. Eldredge has just completed some very extensive improvements in his drugstore, the old reliable "Empire." The old ceiling has been replaced by a row one of matched wood, handsomely painted; the interior of the store has been thoroughly cleaned and repaired, there has been a general re-ar—ranging of the stock, and many different lines of goods added. New counters have taken the place of the old ones, the shelving and cases, and other wood work beautifully grained, presenting a neat and beautiful appearance. The "Empire" is now one of the best arranged drugstores in the city, and we are glad to note that Mr. Eldredge is doing a good business in this fall season. His collection of taxidermy, exhibited in one of the large windows, forms quite an attraction to his business place, and many of the specimens are well worth the attention they draw.

MATRIMONIAL.

JOHNSON-AMBLER.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. John Haight of the town of Johnston, was the scene of a pleasant social event in the union of their nuptials, Miss Lillian M. Ambler, to Mr. H. S. Johnson, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Johnson, of Johnston. The ceremony took place at nine o'clock a. m. Wednesday, Nov. 19th. Rev. D. B. Jackson, of Emerald Grove, officiating, and was witnessed by a small company, consisting exclusively of relatives and intimate friends of the bride and groom. Mr. Alfred J. Haight and Miss Kate L. Conant were groomsmen and bridesmaids respectively. At the close of the ceremony an elaborate wedding breakfast was served, after which the newly wedded couple took carriage for Janesville, where they took the noon train for Chicago for a wedding tour. Numerous and valuable presents were bestowed and the young couple entered upon the voyage of matrimonial life with the best wishes of their many friends.

Mr. C. R. Brauer, of Chas. Ohio, was confined to the bed with rheumatism—so severe that he could not turn himself. Four doses relieved him completely. He says, "It is worth a weight in gold, and recommends it to every one suffering with the dreadful complaint."

The New York Tobacco Market.

The United States Tobacco Journal, of November 22, does not give a very flattering tone to the tobacco market. It says: "What the market offers, people don't want; what the market does not offer, people want. Everybody is looking for something thin; nothing is too thin for them. Bring out some thin wrappers and buyers are there for them; show thin seconds and a grab is made for them. For fillers, thinness is least does not play as great a role as thinness in prices. Well, the week passed off ones more languid and lazy. There were some buyers in the market, but their principal object was to invest in that class of stock which the trade has come to designate as 'Mezzobals.' This comprises goods upon which first holders are willing to lose head, ears and elbows—figuratively speaking, of course.

A very substantial business was done in Sumatra. Goods ranging from $1.20 to $1.35 found many buyers, principally in lots of from 5 to 25 bales, the total sales reaching the respectable figure of about 250 bales.

The total sales of leaf in open market sum up about 800 cases. The opening week of the tobacco exchange resulted in sales of 50 cases of '83 Connecticut seconds at 12 cents, and 25 cases of '83 New York Havana seed wrappers at 23 cents. Among the offerings for the coming week at the exchange, as designated in another column, important lots of '80, '82 Pennsylvania are entered. Havana sold privately with 600 bales at from 75 cents to $1.20."

His Shipley Glass Eye.

"The Squire," says the author of "The Hoosier Schoolmaster," wore one glass eye and a wig. The glass eye was constantly slipping out of focus, and the wig teetering around his head as he moved. He never let the people of the "Flat Creek District" see his spectacles. Parker's Hair Balsam preserves and promotes the growth of the natural hair. It also restores the natural color to hair which has faded or become gray. Clean, elegant, beneficial, highly perfumed.

Twenty-five Dollars and Cost.

Yesterday afternoon the case of Edward Kleeb, who keeps a saloon at No. 55 North Main street, was concluded, the charge, that of selling liquor on Sunday, being sustained, and the defendant was fined twenty-five dollars and costs, amounting in all to $23.85.

The complaining witness in this case was one George Olms of Monroe, who it seems had a little personal grudge against Kleeb. On Sunday last Olms found his way into Kleeb's saloon, the front room of which is used as a lunch room, the bar being in a rear room. While in this lunch room Kleeb invited Olms to take a glass of beer and went into the bar-room. Olms followed him in, and instead of taking beer, called for whiskey straight, which he drank. Yesterday morning Olms complained of Kleeb for violating the Sunday liquor law. We have very little sympathy for any saloon keeper who knowingly and wilfully violates the law, and we must admit that we have far less for a man who will accept the hospitality of another, on convivial or otherwise, and then turn "informant," and we are not alone in this opinion.

For DYSPEPSIA, INDIGESTION, Depression of Spirits and General Debility, in their various forms; also as a preventive against Fever and Ague, and other intermittent Fevers, the "Fruito-Pasco" PAIN EXPELLER OF CALLEJA, made by H. C. CALLEJA, Havana & Co., New York, and sold by all druggists, is the best tonic; and for patients recovering from Fever and other sickness, it has no equal.

The Weather.

She will make the trip by the way of St. Paul, and from there over the Northern Pacific road to Thompsons Falls a little station about four hundred miles east of the terminus of the road, and about thirty-five miles from the mining camp, which is to be her home for the winter. The overland part of the journey will be made on horse-back over a rough mountain path, and will be very romantic to say the least. The lady exhibits courage, and a devotion that is sublime in undertaking such a tour alone in the winter season. Her many friends in Janesville will wish her a safe journey and all the pleasure possible to her surroundings.

Footnote.

Died, November 11th, 1884, at their residence in Footville, Mrs. Sarah, beloved wife of Stephen Honeysett, of congregation of the church. Her illness was almost through severe. Her remains were interred at the Grove cemetery on the 13th of November. Her end was peace.

There was a large concourse in attendance at her funeral, conducted by Eld. A. Gibbs, of Beloit, at the M. E. church, Footville. Mr. Honeysett has the sympathy of a host of kind and sympathizing friends.

Milton.

—The following is the status of the "gravel row" in this village at the present writing: On the 10th inst. Goodrich began gravelling a roadway from a point about opposite the Kingley's place. He laid it out so that when it reached Green's lumber yard, either the roadbed must go south or the office north. Mr. Green holds a lease of the land occupied by buildings and lumber yard from the St. Paul company, and he declined to have his building or lumber that lay upon the line of the road to be gravelled. Mr. Goodrich put a load of gravel in the shed attached to the building and went along eastward with his gravelling. Friday forenoon a new and interesting feature in the case was presented by the appearance of Roadmaster Perry Graham on the scene with a large force of men. They piled a large amount of timber on the gravel shed of Mr. Green's building, and when Goodrich with his team and load of gravel in an appearance, Mr. Green ordered him off the road, and Graham's men and team were driven off by the employees of the company and the gravel leveled down and thrown onto the land outside of that owned by the company. Mr. Goodrich claims that the railroad company have no title to the land in controversy, while the company's representatives claim the contrary. Undoubtedly the matter will now be litigated and this vexatious question be adjudicated.

—The democrats had a justification here Saturday night. About 8 o'clock the Catholic Temperance band proceeded by two teams carrying four or five torches, and in the center of the band a touring such music as they could with the assistance of Goodrich's "Art" down to protect them from the rain and then gave Dr. Borden a serenade. His residence was decorated with Chinese lanterns and candles as were those of Stannard, George Reynolds, James Hurd, P. Tomkins, John Spaulding, and Mrs. Alexander. The display was such that could have been expected considering the inclement weather.

—Six degrees below zero Monday morning with the self-registering thermometer marking 25 degrees below during the night. Rather cool for November.

—Remember that if you want any book for a holiday present, Wm. Clarke will furnish it at the lowest price. President Whitford spent last Wednesday and Thursday at Patented visiting the state normal school. He returned on Friday.

Castile Soap, This Time.

(Chicago Herald.) Nothing is so common in this cosmopolitan age, as to see one comes out with the statement that Castile soap instead of being the purest is about the most impure soap to use, and that many diseases of the skin are traceable to its use.

Which Explained It.

"It was not the dirt I had taken," said a Kerry peasant charged with being drunk and disorderly, "but I had a smoke out of a neighbor's pipe, and that landed upon me."

Cavalry in Future Wars.

(Fortnightly Review.) Among the military nations of the continent it is recognized that, so far from the time for the efficacious employment of cavalry on the battle-field or in enterprises against the flanks or rear of an enemy being past, a glorious future is dawning for that arm, and that opportunities will arise when well-disciplined, well-trained, and well-commanded cavalry may, through its power of mobility, for itself comparative impunity from the dangers to which other arms are in a higher ratio exposed, take a leading part in the conflict and perhaps decide the fate of a campaign.

Among other high authorities, Field Marshal Count Moltke has recorded his opinion that because in future the destructive fire of artillery will necessitate a scattered formation, the role of cavalry will be most important. History proves that without cavalry a victory is rarely brilliant. It is cavalry is beaten; according to Moltke, the battle is entirely lost; if, on the other hand, it is victorious, the victory is complete. From the day when Hannibal destroyed the Roman host at Cannae, until that on which, 2,000 years afterward, the British squadrons charging the flanks of the old guard at Waterloo, "prevented all rallying" after the annihilation of the French cavalry, this axiom has been true. In the last great war, cavalry on both sides won several campaigns nobly sacrificed in order to gain time for the infantry, or in heroic effort to avert disasters already irreparable, but neither in the "death rides" of Worth or Rojava, or in the terrible slaughter of Sedan, were the losses as heavy as those incurred by cavalry in the days of musketeers.

That the effect of the fire of modern weapons, requiring as they do in their use considerable skill and a correct judgment of distance, would be very destructive to cavalry moving rapidly outside the line of 400 yards would be proved. In a trial which lately took place in India between three Gardner guns and a detachment of sixty picked shots shooting at six stationary targets at 855 yards, the distance being unknown, the latter made only twenty-four hits out of 411 rounds, and at 900 yards only thirty-six hits out of 620 rounds. The Gardner guns were even less successful, a result highly encouraging to cavalry.
